The Wall Street Journal	June 1, 2016	Parents Sue St. Paul's School After 'Senior Salute' Sexual-Assault Case	St. Paul's "had children boarding with them and as such, they assume the role of parents," Steven J. Kelly, the lawyer for the plaintiffs, said by phone Wednesday. "They knew that the children under their care were threatened by this senior salute, by pervasive games of sexual conquest, and they did nothing to stop it." The family's goal is to "protect the children at the school that the family loved very much," Mr. Kelly said. The girl's father is a St. Paul's alum, while her sister also attended the boarding school, he said. He said the young girl returned to St. Paul's after the assault, but left after "feeling bullied and intimidated and retaliated against."	http://www.wsj.com/articles/parents-sue-st-pauls-school-after-senior-salute-sexual-assault-case-1464830358
Huffington Post	June 1, 2016	St. Paul's Turned Blind Eye To Teen Harassed For Reporting Her Sexual Assault, Suit Alleges	"Once the report was made to police, people started to figure it out and she started to feel retaliation," Steven J. Kelly, the victim's attorney, told The Huffington Post. St. Paul's administrators largely "paid lip service" to her parents' complaints, Kelly said, suggesting "she had to deal with it" instead of addressing the complaints. [...] "Shortly after the victim told her mother and the report came out, the mother received a call from another parent complaining that the victim had told her daughter, and the daughter had a test that day and didn't do well on that test," Kelly said. Some people in the school were supportive, but they were not in the power structure, Kelly said. "There was no effort made to shield her from retaliation or discipline people for retaliating against her," he added. The victim left the school in December 2014. [...] "The school's attitude is sort of a circle the wagon	http://www.huffingtonpost.com/entry/lawsuit-st-pauls-school-sexual-assault_us_574f524ae4b0c3752dcc6aac attitude," Kelly said, comparing it to the Catholic Church's response to sex abuse cases involving priests. "Somebody had the audacity to seek outside help, and everyone turns on them because you're attacking the school, you're attacking the prestige."

WMUR	June 1, 2016	Parents of assault victim sue St. Paul's School	"St. Paul's fostered a culture of misogyny and male privilege that deprived its female students of the safe and healthy educational environment they would expect from one of the nation's premier private schools," attorney Steve Kelly said.	http://www.wmur.com/news/parents-of-assault-victim-sue-st-pauls-school/39849960
e-Ticker News of Claremont	June 1, 2016	St. Paul's School In Concord Sued Over Sexual Assault Case	"St. Paul's fostered a culture of misogyny and male privilege that deprived its female students of the safe and healthy educational environment they would expect from one of the nation's premier private schools," said lead counsel Steve Kelly of the Baltimore law firm Silverman Thompson Slutkin White. "Administrators ignored the health, safety and welfare of the children entrusted to their care, and turned their favorite motto on its head—rather than 'freedom with responsibility,' administrators held themselves and the students to the standard 'freedom from responsibility.'"	http://www.etickernewsclaremont.com/2016/06/st-pauls-school-in-concord-sued-over-sexual-assault-case/
